ART 311-II	CAPTURING BARCELONA THROUGH PHOTOGRAPHY – SECTION 2 This course is designed to introduce photography as a fine art and a means of personal expression. The emphasis in this course is on the elements of composition and editing for a final quality black and white image. Areas of concentration include: creativity, composition, analyzing/critiquing the work of others and the use of computer/digital imaging/editing. Students will need to provide their own camera. This can be a smartphone or digital camera. No specific type of camera is required.	MW 3:45- 5:15
ART 323	WRITING THE CITY The course explores the craft of Creative Writing in relation to the city and explores the particular challenges of writing about place. We will examine different aspects of the city in relation to Barcelona narratives including the old city, travel, urban spaces, solitude, politics, ethnicity, particular boroughs and characters (both fictional and real) as well as making use of practical exercises and field work.	MW 12:15- 1:45
ART HISTORY
ARH/HIS 276	HISTORY OF THE MEDITERRANEAN THROUGH ITS ART The Mediterranean Basin is the birthplace of some of the most influential cultures in human history. Religious, political, and intellectual ideas and practices have developed in it throughout the ages, and these ideas and practices continue to be essential in present-day western societies. This course studies the history of Mediterranean cultures and societies through art and architecture from Ancient Egypt to the European Renaissance. We will examine how Mediterranean societies expressed their ideas and concerns about the world through the creation of splendid sculpture, painting, and architecture. Field studies will take us to several sites and museums in Barcelona.	MW 2:00- 3:30
ARH 320	PICASSO, MATISSE, DALI AND THE MEDITERRANEAN The work of these three international artists with distinct cultural roots is explored on an individual basis within the wider framework of European art movements. In each case, students will study the acceptance and/or rejection of tradition, the interaction with Spanish art and artists, and personal experience. The course will also pay special attention to the role of both outside stimuli (war, relationships) and inner forces (imagination).	MW 12:15- 1:45
BUSINESS
BUS 301	INTERNATIONAL BUSINESS TODAY AND TOMORROW Businesses face a new dynamic, one that poses significant challenges as well as opportunities—the need to “green” their products and services. Many analysts forecast that environmentally driven businesses will represent one of the world’s major forces and industries in the 21st century. This course also analyses issues of constant change by focusing on the internet and robotics, info-tech and social media in the promotional mix, legal and ethical practice, entrepreneurial activity, socially responsible business and business culture and etiquette.	TTh 10:30- 12:00
BUS 303	INTERCULTURAL MANAGEMENT This course is designed to introduce students to concepts and fundamentals of international management. The course will consider aspects of management within an international and culturally complex environment, while considering the business influences within the global workplace.	TTh 2:00- 3:30
BUS 304	BUSINESS ETHICS This course investigates ethical problems in business practice. Topics include personal morality in profit-oriented enterprises; codes of ethics; obligations to employees and other stakeholders; truth in advertising; whistleblowing and company loyalty; self and government regulation; the logic and future of capitalism; and the changing responsibilities of the manager in a rapidly globalizing business environment.	TTh 8:45- 10:15
BUS 305	GLOBAL MARKETING Exploration of basic knowledge of global marketing focusing on the impact of environment on the strategies used by firms and understanding of consumer behavior management as it relates to the development and implementation of global marketing strategies.	MW 10:30- 12:00
BUS/WGS 310	INTERNATIONAL WINE BUSINESS This course provides students with an understanding of the business aspects of the global wine trade. Subjects include business planning, finance, supply chain management, futures, wine as	MW 12:15- 1:45 an alternative investment and how the media affects the pricing, political, social and technological issues affecting the wine trade, buyer/seller cycle of wine industry. Course includes guided tastings, Field Studies to wineries and vineyards.

BUS 315	ADVERTISING AND SOCIETY This course introduces students to the linkages between advertising and society. It is premised on the belief that advertising helps shape human attitudes and behaviors, just as the latter two in turn help direct and shape advertising. The emphasis is however firmly on advertising as a shaping agent – how it influences individuals and societies, the dynamic nature of the relationship, and the impacts (both positive and negative) that advertising may have on individuals and societies. It takes a critical and dispassionate view of advertising, rather than a managerial or practitioner’s view. Various criticisms of advertising are flagged, and these are used as a basis for further coverage and discussion of the criticisms and issues raised.	TTh 2:00- 3:30
BUS 316	CONSUMER BEHAVIOR This course provides students with an understanding of the behavior of consumers in the marketplace, using an interdisciplinary approach that employs concepts from such fields as economics, psychology, social psychology, sociology, and psychoanalysis. Topics include motivation, perception, attitudes, consumer search, and post-transactional behavior.	TTh 12:15- 1:45
BUS 318	THE BUSINESS OF SOCIAL MEDIA Over the past decade, new digital platforms have profoundly changed how we live, work, and conduct business. The business world is undergoing fundamental changes in how consumers interact with brands and each other. Social media is changing how business is done around the world in almost every industry. Social media has helped give consumers a voice and connect them with their friends and other like-minded people, and it has also opened up numerous new communication channels available for brands to connect with current and potential audiences. Therefore, the importance of social media’s role in modern marketing efforts can no longer be ignored. It’s an integral component in almost all successful marketing strategies. With this increasing emphasis on integrated social media strategies, the importance for modern businesses to understand the need for a strategic social media presence cannot be understated. From creating an outlet to directly connect with consumers, to providing insight into buying behavior, to boosting SEO rankings, social media has evolved to serve as the glue that binds together and enhances a digital marketing strategy and the overall brand experience for consumers.	MW 12:15- 1:45
BUS 328	FASHION BUSINESS AND PRODUCT STRATEGY This course is designed to give students an insight into fashion industry practices, providing a strategic view of how fashion products work, and an overview of the whole cycle from textile stage to retail - the moment when the final product reaches the consumer. Students will learn about product processes and strategies, such as product development, materials, planning, sourcing, fashion management, buying, sustainability, fast fashion X slow fashion and market differentiation, through real case studies. The program also proposes a reflection about consumption, fair trade, environmental issues and recycling, debating current and emerging perspectives, design approaches and business strategies.	TTh 5:30- 7:00
COMMUNICATIONS
COM/IRL 316	MEDIA AND CONFLICT This course examines the role media play in the progression and public perceptions of conflict. Relevant topics will include media and military intervention, portrayals of protest movements, and news and entertainment coverage of crime, rumors, domestic politics, violence, and ethnicity.	MW 10:30- 12:00
COM 317	COMMUNICATION AND GENDER This course examines gender as a cultural communication practice that simultaneously reflects and enacts the culture in which it occurs. That is, gender is positioned as something that we do—via communication— rather than what we are. In order to understand and consider critically gender as communication, this course examines the difference between sex and gender, the intersection of gender and culture, and theories of how we become gendered. We will examine the ways in which social and political meanings attached to gender are communicated in various cultural institutions, practices, and contexts; and we will also consider how issues such as identity, representation, race, sexuality, class, and power bear on gender.	MW 8:45- 10:15

Course times and offerings are subject to change.

COM 318	INTERCULTURAL COMMUNICATION This course allows students experiencing the challenges of cross-cultural communication in an international setting to explore intercultural communication theory and research within both broad and interpersonal contexts. Topics include similarities and differences in values, norms, interethnic/intergroup communication, and adaptation. Students will bring these theories to bear on their experiences in the field. The study of intercultural communication is often approached from a social psychological perspective. Although that perspective has yielded many important ideas about intercultural communication, other perspectives may also contribute to our understanding of the subject, particularly in acknowledging the influence of context and power in intercultural interactions. Through participation in this course, students will come to appreciate the complexity and dialectical tensions involved in intercultural interactions. Additionally, the aim of this course is to enhance students' self-reflection, flexibility, and sensitivity in intercultural communication.	TTh 3:45-5:15
CROSS-CULTURAL STUDIES
CCS/SOC 358	SPORTS IN CATALONIA, SPAIN, AND EUROPE: A CULTURAL APPROACH Sport is an integral part of Spanish society that affects all levels of life from social institutions to government and law. A recent example of this is the Catalan government deciding to ban bullfighting – an age-old tradition that demands great respect in other parts of Spain. This course uses sport as a prism to understand the Spanish society. We begin with a theoretical foundation of sport and society, then delve more specifically into sports in Spain and Catalonia covering topics such as history, politics, gender, gambling, racism, media influence, violence, and identity.	MW 3:45-5:15

	considered abnormal behavior. A connection is drawn from the historical foundations of abnormal psychology to present-day assessment, diagnosis, theory, research, causes and treatment of psychological disorders. A critical, interdisciplinary bio-psycho-social framework of understanding abnormal behavior will be used throughout the course. More specifically, biological or genetic causes, environmental causes and social causes for the manifestation and onset of abnormal behaviors will be utilized while the construction of knowledge will also be interrogated. Understanding abnormal behavior through this framework will further assist with the development and utilization of appropriate preventative and intervention measures as well as critical thinking skills that enhance clinical acumen. The instructor will use various forms of instruction throughout the course including lecture, experiential learning, in-class discussion and other activities such as videos, discussions, critical group activities, etc. Moreover, the context students will be taking this course in will be discussed through European influence in the development of Abnormal Psychology. Activities completed outside of class will also incorporate the immersion context.	5:15
PSY 335	SOCIAL PSYCHOLOGY The study of the ways in which the individual is affected by the actual, imagined, or implied presence of others.
