

IAU SUMMER TROUBADOUR #5

« We shall not cease from exploration, and the end of all our exploring will be to arrive where we started and know the place for the first time. »

T. S. Eliot

Chers Etudiants,

Nous voici arrivés à la fin de notre session d'été. Vous avez pu ressentir la magie de la région (ainsi que la chaleur) et vous avez sûrement découvert pas mal de choses, attendues et inattendues, dans vos explorations. Whether it was intellectually, emotionally (sometimes the same thing) or geographically, we all suppose that you discovered something new, about yourself and/or about the wider world. Though it might be only a small thing or perhaps something earth-shattering and life-changing, the exploration will always have some effect down the road. Maybe you learned to broaden your horizons and commit to learning more about the world around you or maybe you understood that the « wider world » is expansive enough back in your own home town. Immanuel Kant never left his hometown, yet his thinking has influenced generations in every corner of the globe. There is no guarantee that travel is the surest way to broaden one's perspective. Whatever choice you make for your future, we hope the short time here will be a part of that choice and have some influence in the paths you take from here on out.

Bien à vous,
Leigh Smith
Dean
