

IAU SUMMER TROUBADOUR #4

« It's a good thing a lot of people speak foreign languages, otherwise those people would have no one to talk to. »

Steven Wright

Chers Etudiants,

Les deux prochaines semaines vont voir les deux fêtes « nationales » parmi les plus anciennes du monde, les 4 et 14 juillet. Nous espérons que vous profiterez des deux semaines qui viennent pour mieux apprécier les relations proches qu'entretiennent la France et l'Amérique. Même si actuellement on aperçoit des tensions, rappelez-vous que la France est toujours le premier allié et ami des Etats-unis. Et les amitiés sont parfois compliquées. With only two weeks left for the summer term and the most important French holiday to come, do take the time to consider what you have learned from this short time in France and how this will inform you in your life and in your work in the years ahead. Your professors and any of the staff are here to help with this, but what you will take away will depend largely on the level of your own reflection and commitment. As you have already seen, there is plenty to take in, but also plenty to process.

Bonne continuation et to the American students, Happy Fourth of July,

Leigh Smith

Dean
