

IAU FALL TROUBADOUR 8

"Of all the hardships a person had to face, none was more punishing than the simple act of waiting."

Khaled Hosseini, A Thousand Splendid Suns

Chers Etudiants,

Bon retour à Aix! Nous sommes contents de vous revoir parmi nous. Peut-être que vous ne vous en rendez pas compte mais quand vous êtes absents ça devient trop calme ici, vraiment trop calme. We are glad to see you back in Aix and hope your week off was fruitful. Very happy to have you back around, as we do get a bit bored with you gone! We have a big week planned for the return with a gathering tomorrow night at Bowling du Bras d'Or. "La Provence" newspaper as well as some of our French friends will be there. In case you haven't heard in the news in just about every country you may have traveled to over this last week, the US presidential election will be held tomorrow. Though we're hours off in terms of getting in the final results, we'll keep things going as long as possible at the Bowling du Bras d'Or in order to learn as much as we can about the outcome. I can say that in the past, we have seen some important results roll in before midnight in France. In any case, we'll plan on seeing you there, if not for the election results then at least as a chance to get together following the week-long break.

Passez une excellente semaine,

Leigh Smith

Dean of IAU College
