

IAU SUMMER TROUBADOUR #1

La vraie générosité envers l'avenir consiste à tout donner au présent.
True commitment toward the future consists in giving your all to the present.

Albert Camus, L'Homme révolté

Chers Etudiants,

Notre session d'été maintenant bien démarrée, on peut commencer à prévoir notre organisation pour le reste de cette période. However, let's not get too far ahead of ourselves and let's ensure that each day is full and complete. The time will pass quickly, very quickly, for both students and professors and each instant will count for something. Don't let it slip by you. We'll keep an eye on the dates to come but should be very conscientious of how important each of these dates will be as they approach and come upon us. Learning and absorbing what you see and hear is only effective as the commitment you put into it in that moment.

Bonne continuation,

Leigh Smith

Dean

Lecture

Wednesday, 14 June, 6:30pm, CEF Main Hall

"Corporate Responsibility in Democratic Society"

Dr. David Silver, University of British Columbia

How much do some of the companies we admire most give back to society? Indeed, they offer employment, products and services that keep the world around us moving forward and provide innovation. How do those companies' services help evolve the quality of the societies we live in?

Dr. David Silver, a specialist in business ethics, will present some of the research for his latest book.

Wine Tasting

Friday, 16 June, 4:00pm, CEF Main Hall

"The Wines of Provence"

This seminar and wine tasting led by Professor Amy Mumma will introduce you to the wines of the region, most especially the noteworthy rosés that have revived France's interest in the wines produced in the South of France. Spaces are limited but sign-up at Manning is open.
