J-TERM TRAVELING SEMINAR
EUROPE AND THE ISLAMIC WORLD
France, Morocco, Spain
December 29, 2024-January 16, 2025

3 CREDITS (45 CONTACT HOURS)

INSTRUCTOR: Dr. Carl Jubran, President & Professor, ACM-IAU
Professor Aboubakr Jamai, Dean of Global Affairs, ACM-IAU

Important Notice: This is a traveling seminar which means that you will be on foot, on the road, in the air, and only rarely in a classroom. Your learning experience will occur in the cities, locations, and cultural sites visited. You will be in both large cities and potentially deeply rural locations. You will also be in an international environment with customs, laws, security matters, health and well-being issues and lifestyles very different from your experience at home or your university. In sum, it will be a unique learning experience for you. For all these reasons, we expect students to follow the seminar leaders’ advice and recommendations and to be prepared for the traveling seminar leaders to modify the itinerary if deemed necessary and to communicate any changes to you as soon as they are known. IAU reserves the right to modify the itinerary due to issues related to global security, country- and industry-related strikes, inflated travel costs, and health and well-being issues that are specific to regions in which the seminars are scheduled to take place.

I. ACADEMIC & PROGRAM OVERVIEW

The Europe and the Islamic World Traveling Seminar is designed for students interested in an academically rigorous and cultural experience in Spain, Gibraltar, and France. The academic component consists of a series of briefings from leading European academic, literary and political personalities and experts on the European relationship with the Islamic world. Participants will spend 18 nights in 11 cities and will attend daily lectures and meetings with distinguished scholars from ACM-IAU in addition to local guides and experts in the field of politics, art history, history and culture. Special emphasis will be placed on the importance of North African immigration to Europe and its current socio-cultural implications.

II. CONTACT HOURS

This course carries 3 credits or 45 contact hours. Students complete readings prior to the program and finalize their assignments after departure, which extends the academics of the component past the on-site components. Lectures and site-visits are conducted 7-days per week throughout the J-Term. In addition to the in-class contact hours the course also includes an additional 25 hours of field study and guest lectures during the program. Please note that lectures can be held in the early morning, the late afternoon, evening and weekends during the 18 days that we are traveling together.
III. PREREQUISITES

Student must have at least sophomore level standing or advisor approval; Must have completed an introduction to political science, international relations, world history, or European history course.

IV. LEARNING OUTCOMES

1. At the end of this course students will better understand and thus clearly articulate the history and geography of France and Spain with regard to the current migration patterns of immigrants coming from North Africa into Western Europe.
2. Students will understand the history of the Moors in Spain and distinguish between banal representations of nationalisms, regionalisms and cultural and religious myths surrounding nation building in Spain.
3. Students will be able to recreate a map of the Mediterranean Basin outlining all of the countries that have been studied during the seminar and explain their historical relationship with one another.
4. Students will juxtapose the Christianization of Spain during the “Reconquista” with the Islamization of countries in North Africa and be able to clearly articulate the difference between religious tolerance and cultural respect using the city of Cordoba and others as examples.
5. Students will develop a clearer understanding of the relationship between Jews, Christians and Muslims and their co-habitation during a unique time in European history and cross-cultural exchange. This new heightened sensitivity will increase the student’s analytical skills with regard to history and religion.

V. INSTRUCTIONAL METHODS & ACTIVITIES

a) Site visits
b) Seminars and lectures
c) Discussions/reading assignments for each place visited

Attendance:
Students are required to attend all classes, site visits, and class activities barring serious illness or an emergency.

Plagiarism:
Submitting material that in part or in whole is not entirely one’s own work without attributing those same portions to their correct source is prohibited and grounds for failure.

Accommodations:
It is IAU’s goal to provide reasonable accommodations for students with a documented disability. If students need accommodations to fully participate in this class, they must complete the IAU Wellness & Accommodations Questionnaire in their online application portal and forward all requested supporting documentation.

VIII. OTHER INFORMATION

General Travel Advisory:
This trip is a serious one, both academically and culturally. Students are expected to be prepared for intellectual, linguistic, social, and travel challenges. We are traveling as a team, and each member must be prepared, punctual, cautious, and professional. With those important caveats, the trip promises to be an incredible experience, including fun and adventure. That said, be always aware of your surroundings, keeping your valuables close to you. Do not leave smartphones, cameras, etc. unattended. Travel as lightly as possible. Report any suspicious behavior to program supervisors.
Pre-Departure:
Leading up to departure, be sure to check your email and Teams diligently so we can get in touch with you should there be any adjustments to the program. We will set up a WhatsApp group to communicate during the trip.
